

Important News: Windows Vista and Lytec 2007

This announcement came today from Lytec:

Microsoft is preparing to make its newest operating system, Microsoft Windows Vista, generally available to the public in early 2007. At this time, Lytec has not yet completed full compatibility testing with Microsoft Windows Vista. We do not recommend using any version of Lytec with Microsoft Windows Vista at this time.

Lytec cannot make any guarantee of, or warranty the stability or functionality of, any version of Lytec used in conjunction with Microsoft Windows Vista. We expect compatibility testing to be complete this summer. A VAR/customer bulletin will be issued when Microsoft Windows Vista has satisfactorily passed all testing and is certified for use with Lytec products.

It is our intention to have Lytec 2007 tested using Vista Business edition only, in both the 32- and 64-bit solutions. No other versions of Vista will be tested or supported. Lytec 2007 is the only version that will be updated for Vista compatibility.